The 2021 Copa America, the regional championship for South American nations, has entered the knockout stages and the semifinals are set. Brazil will face Peru on Monday, July 5 with a ticket to the Copa America final on the line. Brazil knocked off Chile 1-0 in its quarterfinal and Peru emerged on penalty kicks against Paraguay after a wild 3-3 draw. Colombia also advanced on penalty kicks after a scoreless draw against Uruguay, and the Colombians will be meeting Argentina after Lionel Messi & Co. took care of Ecuador 3-0 on Saturday night.The 47th edition of the world’s longest-running international soccer tournament was originally scheduled for 2020 in Colombia and Argentina, but it was pushed by a year due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Two weeks before kickoff it was also moved to Brazil, where four venues are hosting all the matches: Rio de Janeiro, Brasilia, Cuiaba and Goiania. The entire schedule is being played behind closed doors without fans due to the pandemic.How to watch Copa America 2021 in CanadaTSN will be broadcasting all the remaining matches from the Copa America tournament.MORE: Copa America standings and group scheduleLatest 2021 Copa America scheduleMonday, July 5 (Semifinal)Match Time (ET) TV Peru vs. Brazil 7 p.m. TSN4/5 Tuesday, July 6 (Semifinal)Match Time (ET) TV Colombia vs. Argentina 9 p.m. TSN4 Friday, July 9 (Third place)Match Time (ET) TV Third-place match 8 p.m. TSN5 Saturday, July 10 (Final)Match Time (ET) TV Championship Match 8 p.m. TSN4 Copa America 2021: Tournament FormatThe 10 South American member nations started off with a group stage from which eight teams advanced to a single-elimination knockout phase starting at the quarterfinal stage.Group Stage: The 10 teams were split up into two groups of five. The South American international tournament was due to be co-hosted by Argentina - alongside Colombia - but rising COVID numbers in the former as well as political demonstrations in the latter saw the tournament hastily shifted across the borders to Brazil. The two powerhouses of South American football will now renew rivalries in a seismic clash between two colossal footballing entities. One side will be led by Lionel Messi, the other by his former teammate Neymar. It’s a tantalising encounter worth staying up for, if you’re a UK fan, and it’s entirely free to watch. RadioTimes.com brings you the full schedule for Copa America 2021 including the fixture list, dates and UK kick-off times. How to watch Copa America 2021 on TV and live stream Every game will be live across multiple BBC platforms, so you can tune in for free whether you’re at home or on the move.
